MEMORANDUM FOR INFORMATION AND ACTION

TO: DDCI

1. This is an instance--a Service Intelligence school--where an address by the DDCI would be a benefit to the Agency and to the whole intelligence community.

2. The speech could relate to the necessity for and the importance of strategic intelligence; the urgency of teamwork in accomplishing its mission; the place of the CIA in the field, emphasizing the CIA does not compete with the other intelligence agencies of Government, but does coordinate, correlate and assist them, daily striving to have all US intelligence agencies really professional. I believe 30 minutes is too long a period for "inspirations"; 15 or 20 minutes is better. The graduates want to go on leave.

3. Recommend that the DDCI accept this invitation and give a 15-minute talk.

STANLEY J. GROGAN

5. [REDACTED] (OTR Briefing Officer) called to advise that he received a call from Colonel Wally Jones (who was under General Powell in the War Games Group in the Bunker" and apparently knows you) asking if you would make a graduation address on Friday, 3 August, at the Strategic Intelligence School here in Washington. The class members are Army and Air Force types, many of whom will go out as attaches to work in embassies abroad and will be working with our people. You would be expected to speak for 30-40 minutes -- you would not have to say anything about organization or substantive-type intelligence; the purpose is "to give these people an inspirational send-off." (Wives would be present so it would be an unclassified talk.) Mr. [REDACTED] said that both General Cabell and Mr. Dulles have given this address in the past. Would you want to do this? Yes ☐ No ☐ (This oral request is just to sound you out and if you agree to do it, a request will be made in writing.)
